Note - On 1st July 1867, the provinces of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick were formed into a Confederation, under the name of the Dominion of Canada. In 1869, the vast territory of the Hudson Bay Company, extending to the Arctic Ocean, and comprising the present province of Manitoba (see plate) and the North-West Territory, was incorporated in the Dominion. British Columbia with Vancouver Island was added in 1871, and Prince Edward Island, joined the Confederation in 1873.
